MRS. CHADWICK GOES BACK TO CLEVELAND TO FACE HER TRIAL.

Suddenly Decides She Has Had Enough of the Tombs, Waives Hearing, and, in Charge of U. S. Marshal Henkel, Starts for Ohio To-Night.

GRAND JURY HUNTS FOR OTHERS IN WOMAN'S SWINDLE.

Pittsburg Banker Said to Have Been Caught for $500,000—Young Phipps Also Named as Victim—Beckwith Says Husband Knew of "Carnegie" Notes.

Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick decided late this afternoon she would not stay in New York another night, and, sending for her counsel, Philip Carpenter, gave him the alternative of getting her back to Cleveland at once or having some one else attend to the matter.

Mr. Carpenter went before Judge Adams in the United States Circuit Court and asked for an order of removal for Mrs. Chadwick, announcing that she waived examination in the case now pending against her of aiding and abetting a conspiracy to defraud the Citizens' National Bank of Oberlin, O., out of $125,000.

Judge Adams issued the order and turned it over to United States Marshal Henkel. Mr. Henkel, accompanied by Deputy John Stebbins, went to the Tombs with Mr. Carpenter and manoeuvred for an hour before they took Mrs. Chadwick away. They did everything possible to avoid a crowd and were successful finally in smuggling the woman out without a dozen people knowing who she was.

She was taken to Mr. Henkel's office in the Federal Building, and after dinner got ready to start for Cleveland at 8 o'clock to-night.

MAY INDICT THOSE WHO AIDED SWINDLER

CLEVELAND, Dec. 13.—The County Grand Jury continued its probing into the Chadwick case to-day, and Prosecutor Keeler intimated that an effort will be made to indict some of those who, he says, "maliciously aided" the woman in her gigantic swindles.

A third indictment against Mrs. Chadwick in connection with the Carnegie case was returned to-day.

They Are Here Trying to Settle Some Questions Concerning the Rules for Next Season, and Artist Flinn Offers a Few Suggestions.

OATH OF DEATH BY MORMONS NOT TO TALK

Any Who Revealed the Secret Doings in the Temple Was to Have His Heart Torn from His Body.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The Smoot investigation was resumed to-day before the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, with J. H. Wallis, ex-Mormon from Salt Lake, Utah, as the first witness. He testified that he joined the Mormon Church in 1851 in London, and came to the United States in 1850, settling in Utah, where he had a son, who came to this country in 1881. Mr. Wallis said he had three wives, but not more than one at a time. He knew Apostle George Teasdale, and also Marian Scott, in London. She came to this country as an unmarried woman, and, according to the witness, is reported to have been married to Teasdale in Utah. Questioned as to his belief, the witness said he never believed fully in the celestial marriages to the dead and four times had stood as proxy for four marriages of living women to dead men. He married his present wife in the Temple.

Explaining the marriages in the Temple, he said it is necessary to take the Endowment before marriage, and in this way had passed through the Endowment fifteen times at least. The ceremonies, he said, are always substantially the same, and each one consumes about two hours. Tells the Penalties. Mr. Wallis said he has a distinct recollection of the ceremonies within the Temple, and that he is able to describe them just as they took place. He was asked to give the oath taken by those who participated, and this he did, together with a description of the secret signs executed by each person. Nearly all of the obligations were that those who took part would not reveal anything they saw or heard, on penalties of mutilation of the person, and every one who passed through the Temple, said the witness, was compelled to agree to the conditions laid down by the priests. The penalties agreed to were given by Mr. Wallis as follows: That the throat be cut from ear to ear and the tongue torn out. That the breast be cut asunder and the vitals be torn from the body. That the body be cut asunder at the middle and the bowels cut out. That if demanded we will give all we possess to the support of the church. The next obligation was one of chastity. Another obligation was one that we would "Never cease to importune high heaven to avenge the blood of the prophets upon the nations of the earth, or the inhabitants of the earth, I don't remember which," said the witness. "This was followed by a quotation from the Book of Mormon: 'And whoso shall do these things shall be blessed with a long life.'"

(Special to The Evening World.) NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 13.—The going was fairly good at the track this afternoon, and an improvement in the track is followed by an improvement in the programmes there were many horses on the card to-day that have not been seen on the course since the spell of bad track set in.

Bad track makes bad racing down in this part of the country, for it affords too many excuses for the boys who are beaten on the legitimate form favorites.

Quite a crowd of New Yorkers came in on the morning train, among them being George Bowles and Sol Albenberg. They do not intend to stay, being en route for Los Angeles. The attendance was very good to-day, for the weather was perfect for racing purposes. Betting continues light, for form is a mysterious quantity just at present.

Favorite Had No Speed. Birch Rod was a lot favorite in the opening event, but he did not relish being at this kind of a price and he refused to show any speed. The result was that after Knight had made the pace for a half, Hakim, a 20 to 1 shot, went to the front and won easily by a length and a half from Ojibwa, who was held in front of Treacy.

$50,000 LIQUOR FUND NOW STIRS UP JEROME

John Doe Proceedings Started by District-Attorney to Learn What Became of Money Said to Have Been Raised to Influence Legislature.

District-Attorney Jerome has taken up and will attempt to solve the mystery of the alleged disappearance of an alleged $50,000 fund which was said to have been sent to the Legislature by the Liquor Dealers' Association last winter to influence legislation. Legislation was not influenced and the alleged $50,000 did not come back.

At about this time the District-Attorney was in Albany advocating the passage of his bill to allow open saloons during certain hours on Sunday. The liquor dealers were not so much interested in Mr. Jerome's bill as they were in a measure to reduce the license in this and other cities. The District-Attorney heard about the alleged $50,000 fund in Albany, but he was unable to discover who, if anybody, had control of it.

ASKED WHO GOT THE MONEY.

When the Legislature adjourned and there had been passed no bills whatever for the relief of the liquor dealers, many and virulent queries were heard about the alleged $50,000 fund. It was reported that saloon-keepers who had contributed wanted their money back, and were told that the person to whom had been entrusted the job of distributing the booze to certain members of the Legislature had allowed the goods to leave his hands before the goods he was buying were delivered.

Gradually the tumult died away, but some of the men who are said to have contributed to the alleged $50,000 fund were unable to forget. They made quiet inquiries, and the report is current now that through their influence the District-Attorney has been put in the possession of information that may show just how the alleged $50,000 fund was raised and just where it eventually got to.

JEROME SUBPOENAS LIQUOR MEN.

Martin Kane, president of the State Liquor Dealers' Association, and up to three months ago President of the local association; Michael Farrelly, now President of the local; Fritz Lindinger, formerly State President; Patrick Keefe, Financial Secretary, and Louis Strewer, Treasurer of the local, have all been subpoenaed by the District-Attorney in a John Doe proceeding, which has already been inaugurated. Two of these men—Lindinger and Farrelly—have already responded to the subpoenas and have been sworn by Justice McKean to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

Lindinger was sworn yesterday and Farrelly took the oath to-day. In some mysterious manner word of the subpoenas got around among the prominent members of the Liquor Dealers' Association, and it was harder to get certain saloons on the telephone this afternoon than it was to get into a pool-room. And certain men who are prominent in district liquor dealers' organizations were busily engaged in moving coals that looked like books of account.

TO SPRING A BIG SENSATION.

According to the information that has reached the liquor dealers, the District-Attorney is on the verge of springing one of the biggest sensations in his career. The report has it that the alleged $50,000 fund was real, and that it found its way into the hands of a man who was last fall elected to a place on the Republican State ticket. He is due to take his seat on Jan. 1, but before that time, if the line of information holds out, somebody will have confessed, there will be corroborative evidence, and the whole State of New York will have something to talk about.

Lampight and Dstest made the running head and head to the stretch, with Lampight winning by a length. The race was a general closing up at this point and at the finish five horses were stretched across the track almost on a line, head and tail. Lampight, who beat Gladiator a neck.

Ram's Horn, Savior Fair and Ram's Horn raced in close order to the stretch, where Ram's Horn went to the front and won easily by two lengths from Savior Fair, who lasted long enough to beat Pawtucket a head for the place.
